

Estella Yeung has had 22 years of working experience in information technology, mainly in the areas of design, development, and implementation of major financial systems. Estella's work experience ranged from programming, project management, senior technical team lead, training course design and delivery. Through CIDA, the Canadian International Development Agency, Estella gained one year overseas working experience as a Technical Team Lead in the South China Strategic Energy Planning Project. Estella had experience as an entrepreneur running a healthy eating food business from 2007-2016. Estella's interest in blockchain technology came from a curiosity in wanting to know its impact on FinTech and other appropriate application areas. Estella is a Chartered Professional Accountant.